

Veronica Jensen Parties Heart-y

“About a Girl” is the bold and infectious new dance track from Veronica Jensen, a pop star who plans to take over the world one party at a time.

By Derek Grimes

Penned by six-time Grammy nominee RedOne, Jensen – fresh from touring alongside Kelly Rowland, Adam Lambert, Wyclef Jean and Pharell on the Hennessy Artistry tour - says she jumped at the chance to record it. “I love all the stuff RedOne has been doing with J Lo and Enrique (Iglesias),” she explains. “Jason Dauman at Dauman Music brought the song to me. I loved it for its great melody and groove. Also, I like the whole global conquest message. I can relate to the ambition, the whimsy; the idea that party people like me will one day rule the world.”

“About a Girl” is out now with remixes by Luigi Gonzalez.

would say our message is the same. Feel the good moments in life, have a fun time and embrace one another. Cyndi Lauper is absolutely one of the greatest artists we have on this planet.

What was it like touring with Pharrell on the Hennessy Artistry tour?

It was an amazing experience. I was so honored to be included. Kelly Rowland, Adam Lambert, and Wyclef Jean were also on the tour. They all inspire me. I love people who come from nothing and build their way up, fight for their dreams, and believe in themselves – all because they have a story to tell. I saw first hand how these artists truly feel and live their emotions, and it takes talent, courage, and commitment.

People are calling “About A Girl” this summer’s power party anthem.

Isn’t that crazy? I think it’s because it’s so easy to sing along to. I know I absolutely love the happy feeling the melody brings. The song’s message is a simple one: enjoy love and life. Life can be tough. I think everyone would agree to that. We all need to let go sometimes and disappear in a little laughter.

How will you achieve your plan to take over the world? (Laughing)

I don’t have an exact plan. I’ll do all I can to spread the word that we need to get back to the good ol’ days when clubs were all about big shows and huge anthems.

How do you feel about gay clubbers embracing “About A Girl” as their anthem?

I love it! The song is for everyone, no matter sex, religion, color, or whatever. The gay audience is fantastic and what a party they make!

Have you performed any gay clubs yet?

One of my biggest performances ever was at Gay Pride in Denmark. It was huge! Thousands and thousands of sexy men and women: everyone topless. It’s a day I’ll never forget. You know if you replace the “girl” in “About a Girl” with “gay”, the song works just as well. (laughs)

Who is the dreamy guy in the video? His name is Casper. He is a very dear friend of mine. What makes him such a great guy is he has no idea how delicious he is. That makes him even cuter. We had so much fun with him on the set. He gets embarrassed easily so we kept blowing air kisses at him when he was trying to concentrate on filming his solo scenes.

What’s next? More songs! My aim is to make shows for everyone. I love to party but I don’t plan to be another shock popper. I really believe girls can be sexy with their clothes on. I want my 93-year-old granddaddy to come to one of my performances and be proud of his little girl.
